You can tell everybody that I say Father John's Medicine is one of the best medicines to keep in the family in winter that ever was. I have tried it in all ways. Why We Like a Mule.

Because he is the most tireless worker on the farm.

He eats less than a horse, but does more work.

He is always as good as cash in the bank.

He never falls through a hole in a bridge and generally keeps out of danger.

His feet stand hard roads better than those of a horse.

He is never in love, but attends strictly to business all the time.

He is never sick but once and then he dies.

He never stops to fight flies as a horse, because his hide is tougher.

He is just as gentle as a horse if he has not been spoiled in breaking.

His age cuts little figure in a sale. Nobody cares how old a mule is.

He will bring from $150 to $250 when he is full grown if he is big and smooth and strong.

The United States have produced so many celebrities in all walks of life that soon the holidays to commemorate their acts by a grateful people will be so plentiful that our year will be one vast holiday.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties.

Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage.

It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is so recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to:

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it.

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health.

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

Idleness Not Happiness.

The most common error of men and women is that of looking for happiness outside of useful work. It has never yet been found when thus sought, and will never be while the world stands, and the sooner this truth is learned the better for every one. If you doubt this proposition, glance around at your friends and acquaintances and select those who appear to have the most enjoyment in life. Are they the idlers and pleasure seekers or the earnest workers?

We know what your answer will be. Nature has devised a plan for us, in order that we be contented in body and mind we must seek employment.

Of all the miserable human beings it has been our fortune or misfortune to know, they were the most wretched who had retired from active employment to enjoy themselves, while the slave at his enforced labor, or the hungry toiler for bread were supremely happy in comparison. Diligence is the basis of all attainment and by constant efforts we are crowned with success.

While poverty is no disgrace, let us not envy the rich, but what a change of feeling there would be between us if we all could earn our bread and meat alike.

There is nothing nobler in the world than honest toil. Labor is all that can bring success. If the artist would excel, he must work. Now and then men rise to eminence by mere accident but these cases are very rare.

Some of our greatest men were poor country boys who succeeded only by hard labor. The world, as a rule, offers her high positions to the workers.

Let us remember that diligence is the mother of good fortune and without industry very little happiness can prevail.

Young people are inclined to believe if a person has genius he need not work to win success. But this is a mistake. The authors and artists, the actors and orators who have made their mark have, whatever else they possessed, had the power to labor long and hard in their chosen calling.

Ordinary ability, supported by the willingness to work constantly and persistently, will achieve success in any profession or business. [News and Sentinel.]

The Good Steer.

What are the points of a good steer? Here are a few that every buyer should remember when he is purchasing a bunch for feeding purposes:

1. His eyes are bright, clear and full, indicating vitality and vigor.

2. His mouth is large and jaws muscular, equipping him with a good food-grinding power.

3. His forehead is full between the eyes, and tolerably high, manifesting intelligence.

4. His head is small and short, evidencing a short, thick body.

5. His neck is short, thick and set firmly to his shoulders, indicating a thickset body.

6. His shoulders are heavy and well covered with flesh, giving smoothness of form to forequarters.

7. His fore legs are strong, straight and set wide apart. The chest is broad, deep, and thick through the heart, displaying plenty of lung room.

8. His girth is large, and just behind the withers is full, showing meat portions.

9. His back is short for early maturing, straight to give good support and broad to give good room for flesh.

10. His ribs are well arched and nicely sprung for room for digestive organs. If the ribs do not show plainly, indications are good for fattening qualities.

11. His hips are wide and thick, the rump long and wide, and the thighs heavy. This assures steak-yielding qualities.

12. His hind legs are short and straight to give good foundation for hind quarters. A fine bone in the tail indicates that the animal is small boned.

A Doctor's Advice

For Chronic Coughs and Colds

a Prominent Atlanta Physician Says Nothing Equals Vinol.

"I want people to know that I believe the most valuable cod liver oil preparation, the best body-builder, health-restorer and strength-creator known to medicine to-day is Vinol.

I advise Vinol in my practice, and find it has no equal for healing coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and sore lungs.

"I have used Vinol in many cases of indigestion, mal-assimilation, and for patients who have no appetite, were anemic and run-down, with splendid results. I have also found Vinol to be a boon to the aged.

"I believe Vinol to be well worthy of any honest physician's endorsement."

Dr. J. E. Ennis, Atlanta, Ga.

Vinol contains no injurious drugs, but it actually does contain peptonate of iron and all of the medicinal, curative elements taken from fresh cod's livers, without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work.

Those who try it and receive no benefit may have their money returned on demand. Frank P. Stone, Druggist, Norway.

The Farmer's Boy.

In Many Instances He Has a Mistaken Idea of City Life.

The great trouble with country boys is that they are not aware of the circumstances under which the city boy is compelled to live and work if he has to earn his living by the sweat of his brow. The idea held up to the country boy is to go to town and get a nice, soft snap such as So-and-so has.

How many of them do it? Not one in a thousand. Far more go there to find work in some close, stagnant mill, to sweat amid the fumes of steam or tobacco smoke, or perhaps in some iron mill, or foundry, surrounded by the curses of their fellow men toiled out a weary day of working hours and after the day is over go home—and to such a home! Up some little back street in a handbox built of brick and named a house more than likely our workman has his home there to pass away the weary hours of the night amid the heat and stagnation of probably a filthy street only a few feet wide but, close and dirty.

In any large city on some sultry night one may see the workmen and their families in these little narrow city streets stretched about the steps and pavements in all conditions. These are not slums either, but fairly respectable neighborhoods.

To such a condition of life many of our country boys have gone, and many more are today preparing to go. Fat pay and big pay envelope? Not in these times. If our city laborer averages $12 a week he is a lucky man. Tens of thousands get less rather than more.

Country boy, before you make the change, in the name of that country you have been taught to hold in reverence, look and do not leap! If you understand farming there are just as many chances on the land to be worked out as there are in the city.

This is a great country, and if you do not like the kind of farming you are working at, there are many others. If you belong to a family that follows the grind, grind system of all work and no play, when you reach your majority and start for yourself, follow out an easier system. Do not condemn country life just because you have been unfortunate enough to be brought up in the home of a man who knows nothing but grind.

Do not overlook the fact that if such a man was your boss in the city he would grind you like a mill. Long, long before you were twenty-one years old you would be occupying some six feet of green turf, where at last you would not hear the dreadful call and curse of the boss.

Country life may not be and probably is not what many would like to color it; but all things being equal it is far preferable to city life. That is just where it comes in. City life is never compared with country life on an equal plane.

Remember that if you must work in the country for a living you will have to work in the city for one too, and if you possess the ability in yourself to rise above the ordinary workman in the city that same ability will carry out a home for you in the country.

Look before you leap, consider all things, and if you are sure you can better yourself in the city, go; if not, stay on the old farm.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Deceptive Hen's Fate

A hen wanted to have some fun at her master's expense, so she procured an ostrich's egg and placed it in her nest.

"Oh, my," cried her master when he saw it, "what a remarkable hen I have! See, she has laid this enormous egg."

And he thought it was so wonderful that he immediately put the hen in a cage and took her to the circus, so that everybody could see the hen that laid eggs as big as she did. He made a nice nest for her in a box, and she was given a good position on the side-show platform between the fat lady and the tattooed man.

Everybody went to see the wonderful hen, and her master was very much pleased.

But the next day the hen laid an ordinary egg, and day after day it was the same size. At the end of the week the circus man went to the hen's master and said:

"Why have you deceived me? This hen only lays ordinary eggs."

And the master did not know what to say. He gathered up his cage with the hen in it and went back home.

When he got there he picked up an ax and chopped the hen's head off.

And that reminds me that we should always be careful not to make things appear in a wrong light.—Detroit Journal.
